

Who will restore all things?

Much controversy surrounds the identity of the end-time Elijah and the timing of his advent to “prepare the way”. The Bible is filled with scriptures prophesying of the coming of this Biblical personality. Many believe that the end-time Elijah has already come and gone, some few believe that He is on the scene at this time, while others believe that the end-time Elijah is yet to come. What about you? Do you believe that the end-time Elijah has already come, or do you believe he is still to appear?

A number of Old Testament passages prophesy of the coming of this individual. Notice Malachi 3:1 as one example:

“Behold, I will send my messenger, and he shall prepare the way before me: and the Lord, whom ye seek, shall suddenly come to his temple, even the messenger of the covenant whom ye delight in: behold, he shall come, saith the LORD of hosts” (Mal. 3:1).

Who is the messenger prophesied to prepare the way? Who are we to seek and expect? The prophecy of the end-time Elijah was given for God’s people – and it was given so that we could understand and be prepared! The name and identity of this individual is embedded within the text of scripture for those with “eyes to see” and “ears to hear”.

Notice a New Testament prophecy as delivered by Christ Himself in Matt. 17:11:

“And Jesus answered and said unto them, Elias truly shall first come, and restore all things”.

Here we are told that Elijah will come to restore “all things”. “All things” means “nothing left undone”. As we consider this verse, and all the other scriptures on this topic, we must ask some valid questions: Who could restore all things? Who would we trust to restore all things to the point where our minds are completely at rest that everything that has been restored is truly restored once and for all, void of any error and human reasoning?

The Faithful Church of God in Laodicea is offering you an eye-opening booklet entitled “Elijah” in which scriptures on this subject, together with all the above questions, are discussed and answered in depth. The booklet offers irrefutable Biblical proof on the identity of the coming end-time Elijah. Please download or request this booklet, which will be sent to you free of charge and without obligation. You will be astonished to discover God’s communication on this subject which has not been understood till now!